

User Generated Content License

We love your User Content and would like the opportunity to show it on our websites, social media channels, retailers' websites and other forms of media. As you consider allowing Carmex (Carma Labs) to use your User Content, we want to make sure you know exactly how we are asking to use it. "User Content" refers to your comments, tweets, posts, photos, pictures, images, videos, materials and other content you provide by agreeing to the terms and clicking the "Got It" button ("accepting the terms"). By posting a photo with #ReviveTheRealYou and accepting the terms, you are affirming that you alone created and own the User Content and no one else has any rights to it or could claim they own it or that any use permitted in this license infringes or violates their rights or those of others. Likewise, if there are people in the User Content other than yourself, you are also affirming they are over 18 and they know you are giving Carmex permission to use the User Content containing their name, image and likeness, and have consented to it being used by Carmex and those deriving rights through Carmex pursuant to this license. You will continue to own the User Content. By accepting the terms, you are giving Carmex and its affiliates a non-exclusive license to use the User Content which can't be revoked by you except where permitted by law. Carmex and its affiliates will have the right to use and reproduce the User Content in any form (including, but not limited to, video, internet posting, reproduction, display, email, publication, and distribution), either through our own services or services provided by third parties, throughout the world in perpetuity in any medium now known or later developed and without restriction or limitation. Also, if you posted your User Content with your real name, username, caption, location information or other identifying information, you agree that Carmex and its affiliates can use that information with your User Content. The User Content and other information may be used for advertising and promotional purposes and Carmex may use the User Content, with or without modification, either alone or in conjunction with sketches, cartoons, captions, films, photographs, art work, textural matter, materials created or authored by us or others. You understand that you won't have the right to approve how we use your User Content. If appropriate, Carmex will make commercially reasonable efforts to give you credit for your User Content if Carmex uses it; however, you agree that such credit is not mandatory and your permission for us to use your User Content is not contingent upon such credit being given or any fees being paid to you. You also understand that by granting us permission to use your User Content, you are at least 18 years of age and of the age of majority in your jurisdiction of residence, you are a resident of the United States, and release Carmex and its affiliates, their employees and officers, and any third party services or designees that use your User Content from any and all claims, actions or proceedings of any kind, and from any and all damages, losses, costs and expenses, including reasonable attorney's fees and expenses relating to or arising out of the use of your User Content as contemplated by this license. If you don't agree to these terms, we completely understand, and do not accept the terms. No further action is required. We are happy to see your user content and look forward to seeing any additional user content you post as well. Thanks again and please contact us at customerservice@carmalabs.com if you have any questions.